MIXED COMPANY SEMINARS

These residential courses, held in specially selected hotels throughout the country, are designed to provide real practical help in assisting employees and their partners make the transition from full-time work towards retirement, recognising that many nowadays are unsure as to whether they can afford/want to stop working.

The style of our courses is informal and conversational. Co-ordinated by our full-time Facilitators, supported by a team of specialist presenters. We aim to make the seminars informative, stimulating and, most importantly enjoyable.

Because we have no connection nor allegiance to anyone in the finance services industry no products or services will be sold. Our aim is to provide attendees with the necessary information to enable them to make informed choices concerning their future. Sessions are flexible and a participative approach is adopted so that the needs of each delegate are met.

The price of these non-executive open seminars is £440 per delegate £389 per partner (2019 prices £450 per delegate and £400 per partner).

This provides for the two day programme, overnight accommodation, all meals and a CD rom containing a pdf of our comprehensive information manual.

The Lake District seminar fee is £580 per delegate and £530 per partner (2019 prices £600 per delegate and £550 per partner). This includes 2 night's accommodation, programme, meals and a conducted tour of the picturesque Lakeland sights, plus CD rom.

In addition non-residential seminars are held in London, March and December.

The fee of £350 per delegate £300 partner (2019 prices £360 per delegate £310 partner) provides for the two day programme, lunches, refreshments plus CD rom.

All prices exclude VAT
